The Video Games is a one of a kind choose your own adventure, parody of the Hunger Games where iconic video game characters battle to the death. Princess Zelda, the Queen of The Console, is celebrating the 64th Annual Video Games and needs the audience's assistance (through the use of social media) to ensure that this year's Games are bigger, badder, and bloodier than the year before! It's a different show every night as iconic pixelated heroes and villains, such as Donkey Kong, Lara Croft, the Master Chief, and more, compete to win the coveted title of Player One.

Written by: Jared Tyrel Pixler and David Evan Stolworthy with fight choreography by: Matt Franta and Brandon Pugmire. The video games began rehearsal with a New York based cast this month and will be joined by cast members from Los Angeles for performances during the New York International Fringe Festival.
